It will be Atkins and Fleming, not Atkins and Eber, that will clash in the main attraction of the G.A.C. card at Toronto on the 12th of this month, according to dispatches from the Queen Oily this morning. Oharjie Kallett, matchnaker for the Grand Army of Julio 1 and mount, according to unstable for the Grand Army of Canada, was in touch with Bobby on Friday inquiring as to terms and the amount asked by the local battler was evidently thought to be too much by the Toronto promoters.

Secretary Dug Chilman has a block of seate for Hamiltonians for Thursday night's game at Toronto, but judging from the in-quiries made this morning by local fans as to where they could se-cure seats one block is hardly going to be enough.

That Georges Carpentier is as popular in London as he is in Paris is indicated by the following account, from a British boxing publication, of his arrival in the English capital prior to his recent meeting with Joe Beckett:

"Not even Charles II. returning from exile could claim that he had a more regal reception than George Carpentier when and after he arrived at Charing Cross. The restored monarch made a longer progress through the cheering ranks of his repentant and newly faithful subjects, it is true, but if Carpentier had been accorded a similar privilege, there isn't a doubt that his reception would have been as consistently enthusiastic.

"So we had one of our puzzles solved for us. Carpentier macre to the hearts of the great British public than even Bombardier nearer to the hearts of the great British public than even Bombardier so we mad one of our putties solved for us. Carpentier is nearer to the hearts of the great British public than even Bombardier Wells and Jimmy Wilde. Jim Driscoll alone might vie with him, but even this is uncertain, and can accarely be put to the test, as Driscoil has never yet made a state entry into London, and is not likely to do so now. More's the pity."
